

Pathologies of Feet & Hands

With Related Biomechanics, Anatomy & Physiology

The "nitty gritty" level of understanding for Reflexologists and Bodyworkers. Learn:

- Pathologies generally not covered in detail in Reflexology training, such as edema, diabetes, varicose veins, skin and fungal problems, developmental problems, aging, sports specific problems, fashion problems, post-op and issues often whispered behind closed doors in medical clinics, such as MRSA.
- To name bones and muscles and what they do as if you'd been doing it forever.
- Exercises for you and your clients to strengthen weak hands.
- To balance various aspects of foot and leg musculature to help your clients strengthen their gait and survive such dangerous activities as wearing 4" high heel shoes, or having cosmetic surgery on their feet.
- Experience and apply new resistance-based techniques to add to your hand and foot work.

As much as possible, this class will address specific challenges of the students who attend.
